Enrollment and Degrees Awarded by Program Area

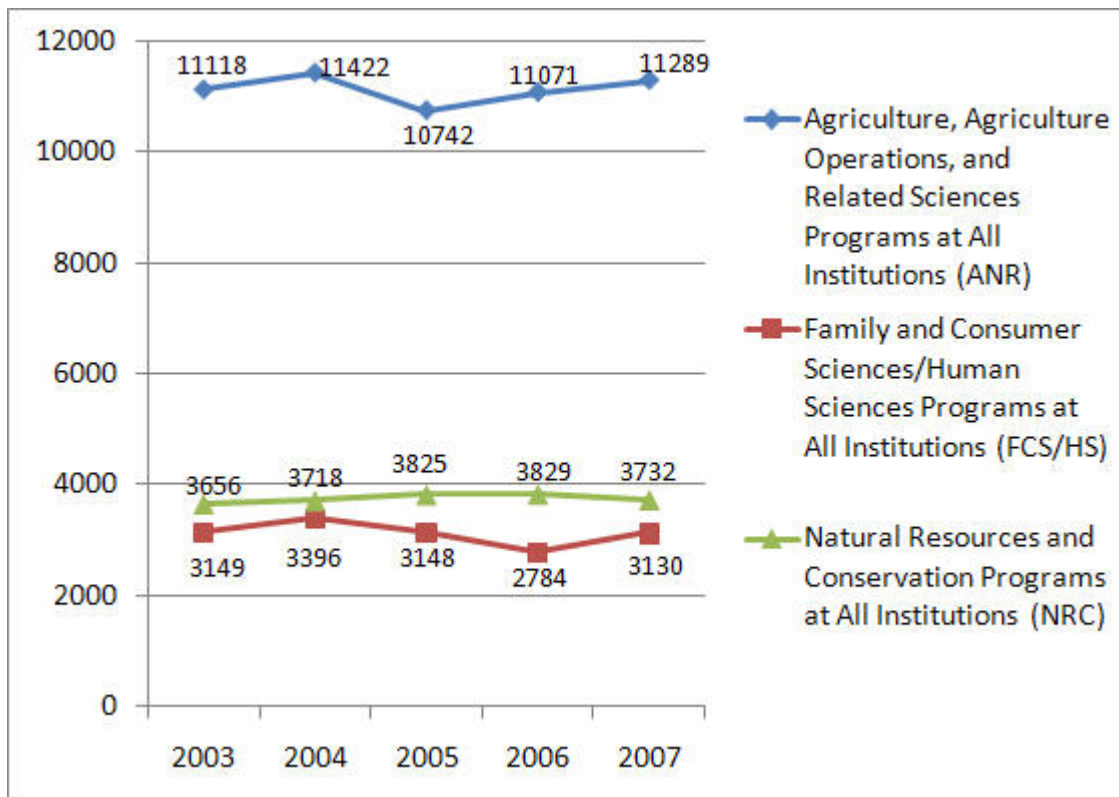

The following graphs and charts display enrollment and degrees awarded data for all institutions which have reported in FAEIS for five consecutive years in the program areas of Agriculture, Family and Consumer Sciences/Human Sciences and Natural Resources and Conservation. . Based on these groups of institutions, there are positive trends for all three program areas for Bachelors and graduate degree enrollment. The Natural Resources and Conservation program area is the only program area that is showing a downward trend in degrees awarded for both Bachelors and graduate degree levels.
